MONTPELIER

Archie B. Dow and Cora M. Henry of St. Johnsbury Married Here.

Archie Byron Dow and Miss Cora Mabel Henry, both of St. Johnsbury, were married here yesterday noon by Rev. S. E. Blomfield at the Bethany parsonage. The single ring service was used. After a wedding trip they will reside in St. Johnsbury, where the groom is in the real estate business. He was for several years clerk at the Montpelier house and later was manager of the Northfield house.

Jabez Bernard Barnes of Russell, Mass., and Miss Pearl H. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron R. Crawford of East Montpelier, were united in marriage at the home of the bride Thursday evening by Rev. Stanley F. Blomfield. The couple were attended by Hester Crawford and William Barnes. The single ring service was used. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes are to reside in Russell, where the groom is gardener on a large estate.

The funeral of Mrs. Carroll A. Pitkin, who died Wednesday at Heaton hospital of heart trouble, was held Friday from St. Augustine's church. Rev. P. J. Long officiating. The bearers were a brother, Simon Rooney of Houston, Tex., William Burnham of this city, Perley Pitkin of Boston and Fred Hastings of Montpelier.

Mrs. Rose Sleeper pleaded guilty to a charge of breach of the peace Thursday and was fined $10 and costs. Henry Mooney, arrested on a charge of intoxication, pleaded guilty and was sent back to jail while an investigation was being conducted.

Mrs. Fred H. Sibley of East Montpelier died yesterday at Heaton hospital, after a week's illness. An operation was performed about a week ago, and although for a time she seemed to rally, death resulted. Mrs. Sibley was born in East Montpelier March 17, 1851, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer D. Stevens, and practically her whole life was spent in her native town. After attending the public schools in that place she took a course at Goddard seminary, Barre, and following her graduation taught school. She married Mr. Sibley in 1873, and to them were born two children, Carrie B. and Roy H. Sibley, both surviving, with her husband. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. M. M. Cutler of this city. The funeral will be held from her late home Sunday at 2 p. m., Rev. Charles C. Carson officiating.

In county court yesterday the case of Marcelino del Campo vs. Manuel Eboeco and others, trespass, was taken up. This is a suit for damages alleged to have been received in a bowling game at Barre.

A nine-pound son was born March 13 to Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sherman.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McRae of Merchant street returned to-day from a visit of a few days in Burlington, their former home.

Fred J. Baird of Elm street went to Irvington this morning to superintend preparation for sugaring on his Mad river valley farm.

C. J. Leclair returned yesterday from Boston, where he has been passing a few days on business connected with the firm of Leclair & McNulty.

John and Henry Coxon of Granville have returned home from East Charleston, where they were called by the sudden death of Charles Cannon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowe, who have been passing several days in the city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Bond of East street, returned yesterday to their home in Waits River.

C. A. Brown, manager of the Passumpsic Telephone Co., who has been visiting friends in the city while attending the telephone conference, returned this morning to his home in Newport.

Joseph D. Walker, a St. Johnsbury retail monument dealer, who attended the Shriners' meeting in Montpelier last evening, returned home this afternoon, after passing a few days in the city on business.

Wallace McWilliams, who has been at his home in Rochester, N. H., during the past few days on account of illness, has returned to Goddard, where he resumed his studies to-day.

Under orders to assemble for the peace meeting, which was to have been held in Howland hall last evening, the first infantry military band mobilized at the appointed hour and gave over a few hours to rehearsing. The musicians are familiarizing themselves with some of the more elementary military formations, but thus far most of their time has been given over to music. Nearly every member of the band was present for the second rehearsal of the week.

F. W. Story of Boston, president of the Vermont Tel. & Tel. Co., who has been visiting the Barre and Montpelier exchanges while in this city for the state conference of telephone men, returned last night to his home. Special Agents Beale and Saunders, who came to Barre early in the week, accompanied their chief to the Hub. Special Agent Finney, who was here for the opening session, received an emergency call Thursday night and left at once for Boston, where he represented the telephone people at a legislative hearing yesterday.

E. H. Loveland, the county agent for Orange county, was a business visitor in the city to-day while en route from Washington to his home in Randolph. Mr. Loveland held a meeting at Washington last evening, where he talked on the farm work which he has outlined to be taken up this summer by the members of the Farmers' club throughout the county. The night before, Mr. Loveland held a meeting at William P. Briggs' farm in Williamstown, where the members of the Williamstown South Hill Farmers' association assembled to discuss the same work which Mr. Loveland discussed last evening in Washington.

Members of the Meadow Brook Golf club, which has lately extended its lease on the Brook street course for a period of ten years, have pledged their financial support to a new club house and it is thought that work on the building will be under way as soon as the weather conditions permit. It is planned to erect a modest, but substantial structure, equipped with lockers, a shower bath or two and other facilities. The house will be so planned as to permit of the addition of an annex whenever the needs of the organization demand. Another new departure was taken by the club at a recent meeting when it was voted to admit women golfers as social members, with the privilege of using the links at their leisure.

Aberdonians accustomed to sending greenbacks across the water to kinsfolk in Scotland have literally been casting their dough upon the water and as time goes on the prospect of its returning after many days grows more and more remote. Especially since the German submarines began their campaign of ruthlessness, people heretofore who preferred to send their money in bills instead of money orders have found that much of the cash never reached the opposite shore. Of those who have held to this practice until convinced of its futility in time of stress, it is said they are resorting to the money order and postoffice registry in order to protect themselves and the people to whom the letters are addressed.

Barre men who were abroad on the street of Boston Friday afternoon when a bomb exploded in the Suffolk county court house are C. M. Foley, the contractor, and E. J. Owens, who returned from the Hug this morning with very vivid recollections of the excitement which prevailed immediately after the big fireworks. Messrs. Foley and Owens were within a few rods of Pemberton square when the bomb went off and momentarily they held with Greater Boston in the theory that the Germans had laid bare another sensation. A real upheaval of emotions was the aftermath of the explosion, according to the Barre men, and for a time the most intense excitement prevailed in the immediate vicinity of the square.

Edward J. Owens of South Main street returned to the city yesterday after attending a meeting at Young's in Boston, where 100 representatives of the leading clothing of New England organized the New England Retail Clothiers' association. This body will be affiliated with the National Association of Retail Clothiers. The idea of the organization is to establish friendly relations between the clothiers throughout New England and securing more efficiency. The newly formed association put itself on record Thursday as favoring the "more sheep, more wool" movement throughout New England. After studying the wool situation in New England, a committee will make a report later. A committee was appointed to attend to the matter of affiliating with the national body, and Mr. Owens was appointed as one of the members.

The Ida Reed W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Shannon of Brook street. Several interesting selections were read from The Union Signal. Four new members were taken in. The hostess served dainty refreshments and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed by all. The next regular meeting will be held the first Friday in April.

The Barre and Montpelier checker clubs will unite their forces this afternoon and evening at Odd Fellows hall against a team composed of the pick of the state, headed by John Taggart of Randolph Center, who has sent invitations to several of the players throughout the state to meet the clubs of Barre and Montpelier on an invitation by the Barre club. The intercity teams will meet what is probably one of the strongest contingents of players who can be assembled in the state.

J. W. Farnsworth, one of the veterans of the telephone service in Vermont, returned to his home in Essex Junction last evening, after having been an interested listener and an interesting talker at some of the conferences of Thursday and Friday. Mr. Farnsworth knew the trials and tribulations of the telephone man long before most of the conference had dipped into the communication business and his description of old-time telephones was one of the most interesting features of the get-together.

Among Celts of Barre and those of Irish extraction everything was green to-day but the landscape and St. Patrick was duly honored by all but the weather. Oxidized pinks, in the absence of real shamrock from the home land, had its day and green carnations, turned to the proper tint by the chemical force, were worn by nearly everyone you met on the street. Some there were who resorted to the little silken shamrock, fronted by a duoden of approved workmanship, but green pinks and green neck scarfs were the mode and patriotic Celts stuck, for the most part, to this manner of showing their colors. The Cecilia club will have a St. Patrick's observance in the Knights of Columbus hall this evening.

James Lynch of Rosindale, Mass., who came to Goddard this year from Dean academy, where he played last year, and was considered one of the best schoolboy outfielders in preparatory school circles, left this noon for his home, where he is going to work out daily until the opening of the National league season in April, when he joins the Chicago Cubs in Chicago. Lynch left school the latter part of February to join the Cubs, but decided to remain in school during the remainder of the year, until another contract was sent him by the Chicago management which he received a few days ago. While Lynch will be greatly missed from the Goddard team because of hitting ability and his masterly work in the box, St. Angelo, the Somerville high school player, will fill the gap in the outfield. Seldom has there been such an ovation extended to a man leaving school as there was by the student body who accompanied Lynch to the station, they giving the Goddard yell as the train pulled out.
